Judge Peters' Reminiscences.

After a tedious, wearisome and disagreeable journey of many days, we arrived at my father's place on the 9th day of December, 1800, all in good health and without an accident or event occurring on the way worthy of note. We found on the place a hewed log dwelling consisting of two rooms below and two above stairs, and a passage between the rooms were, I think, 18x15 feet, plank floors, not dressed, glass in the windows—four lights in a window, 8x10—stone chimneys, covering of boards, held on by what were called, weight poles laid across the boards, and held apart by means of pieces of timber saved at about two feet long and of sufficiently strong timber to keep the poles separated and the roof reasonably secure. The kitchen was a small cabin, built adjoining the dwelling, of round logs, covered with boards, wooden chimney with large rocks set up for jambs, with dirt floor, I think, and a small negro cabin.

My grandmother took her slaves to one of my uncles, who was much better prepared to make her comfortable and keep her slaves. There were ten or twelve acres of my father's land cultivated in corn, and the ground being fresh and very rich, he procured a supply of corn from the tenant who cultivated the crop and some vegetables. So soon as the slaves were made as comfortable as the means would allow, the clearing of more land for cultivation was begun in earnest. The forests were very thick and the trees large, and the sound of the woodman's ax everywhere was heard from early morn till dark. But now the lands in that part of the State are denuded of timber, and a forest tree one foot in diameter can rarely be found.

It might not be interesting to know how my father became entitled to the Woodford county land. His mother was a daughter of Capt. John Ashby (familiarily known as Capt. Jack Ashby), his parents emigrated to the colony of Virginia at an early period in England. He was born in Virginia, a new and sparsely settled country, and early in life became distinguished as a hunter and Indian fighter. When a young man he settled in a fort on the headwaters of the Shenandoah river. About the year 1750, a dispute arose between England and France as to that portion of the country afterwards known as the northwestern territory of the United States extending from the great lakes to the Louisiana territory. England claimed it as included in the charter of Virginia, and also by a treaty with the Iroquois Indians. France claimed it on the ground that Padre Marguerite, a Frenchman, had, in 1673, sailed down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, and had taken possession of the whole of this territory in the name of and for his country. France had planted a lead plate on the banks of the Ohio river with an assertion of the right to the whole of it, and proceeded to occupy the country with troops and settlers, and to erect a chain of forts from the lakes southwest as to unite Canada France with Louisiana, than a territory of France also, and thus to confine England's possessions within very narrow limits. These proceedings on the part of France caused great excitement in England and Virginia.

At once England began to prepare for war, and sent over arms and supplies to that end and Robert Dinwiddie, then Governor of Virginia, was directed formally to notify the French authorities of her claims, and if not yielded to, to fight for them. In obedience to orders, the Governor of Virginia drew up a strong protest against the French occupation of the territory, and selected George Washington as his envoy to deliver his protest to the French commander. He was then just twenty-one years of age, and beyond the limits of his military district, this was his first appearance in public affairs. He had been selected by Lord Fairfax, an English nobleman, who had passed his younger days in the most fashionable society of London, mingling with Dukes and Duchesses, but disappointment in love had driven him to the woods of Virginia to spend his last days in retirement, if not in solitude, and he settled on an estate inherited from his ancestors, including what is called the Northern Neck of Virginia, consisting of many thousand acres, and he engaged George Washington, when a youth of sixteen years of age, to survey his lands west of the Blue Ridge. Here he spent several years roughing it on the border. The Northern Neck of Virginia, which begins on the Chesapeake Bay and lies between the Potomac and Rappahannock Rivers, crossing the Blue Ridge and passing through it with the Potomac at Harper's Ferry, extends with the head thereof in the Alleghany mountains and thence a straight, crossing the North Mountain and Blue Ridge at the headquarters of the Rappahannock. In passing, Washington stopped at Greenway Court, the name of the Fairfax residence, and a warm friendship grew up between them, and through that means Washington got the reputation of a man of a great executive ability. One of the Fairfax family married Gen. Washington's oldest brother, Lawrence Washington, and it is not improbable that L. Washington got Mt. Vernon by his wife, daughter of W. Fairfax, who lived near Mt. Vernon.

In November, 1753, Washington set out on his mission with a small party and traversed the woods to the Indian village called Logstown, where he was told he would find the French commandant near Lake Erie. On the envoy's arrival there he found Chevalier De St. Pierre, the commandant, and he met Washington with courtesy and dignity. Washington handed him the Governor's protest, and, after reading it, the old soldier replied: "I am here, sir, by the order of my General, and I assure you, sir, I will conform my actions to his orders with that resolution that is expected of a worthy officer and soldier." With that response Washington had no alternative but to return.

A Good Suggestion.

[From the Dubuque (Iowa) Telegraph.]
The adjourning of the impeachment court last Saturday, on account of Gen. Weaver's belly-ache, cost the people of this commonwealth nearly $500. One dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy would have saved this expense; and we suggest, as a matter of economy and humanity, that the State provide against future contingencies of this nature, by furnishing each Senator with a bottle of that valuable remedy. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. G. Julian.

—Mr. Florence's Advice.

Florence, the actor, once gave some advice to a friend in these words: "My Dear—: One gallon of whiskey costs about $3. Now, if you must drink, buy a gallon and make your wife the barkeeper. When you are dry, give her 15 cents for a drink, and when the whiskey is gone she will have, after paying for it, $6.75 left, and every gallon thereafter will yield the same profit. This money she should put away, so that when you have become an inebriate, unable to support yourself, stumped by every respectable man, your wife will have enough to keep you until your time comes to fill a drunkard's grave."

Just as sure as hot weather comes, there will be more or less bowel complaint in this vicinity. Every person, and especially families, ought to have some reliable medicine on hand for instant use, in case it is needed. A 25 or 50 cent bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is just what you ought to have and all that you would need, even for the most severe and dangerous cases. It is the best, the most reliable and most successful treatment known and is pleasant to take. For sale by T. G. Julian.

The Roman Catholics of the diocese of Maine, have decided to build an orphanage in Lewiston this year, to cost $25,000. The movement has been largely due to the efforts of Bishop Healy, of Portland, and in honor of him the institution will be christened "Healy Asylum."

GENERAL NEWS.

Vesuvius is in active eruption, and lava is flowing through the Atico Cavallo ravine.

Representative Goodnight was renominated for Congress by acclamation by the Democratic convention of the Third district at Glasgow.

There is a report from New York that the Tammany leaders have agreed to go to Cleveland after one ballot for Hill, if the ex-President be shown the choice of the convention.

It appears from a report issued by the newly organized London Domestic Servants' Union that there are at least 10,000 trained servants of good character out of employment in that city.

In the new British Pharmacopoeia the metric weights and measures will be adopted, to the entire exclusion of the English weights and measures hitherto used there and in the United States.

The Capital removal question came to the front in the House at Frankfort last week, when a joint resolution was presented calling for a committee which is to select four sites in different parts of the State one of which to locate a State-house.

Fire on the water front at Baltimore Tuesday caused a loss of nearly a million dollars to shipping, the Old Bay Line wharf and merchandise. One thousand barrels of whiskey from the Louisville Public Warehouse Company were burned.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has secured full control of the immense William Penn colliery at William Penn, Pa. The output of the colliery has heretofore been shipped via Reading road. This is the first blow dealt that combine by its big competitor.

Frank G. Lenz, a young wheelman, has undertaken to ride around the world on a pneumatic safety bicycle, and started from New York Saturday of last week. He expects to be about five years, and will ride over 20,000 miles. He will take a camera on the back of his wheel.

Young Robert Fales, who has been convicted of murdering Cashier Thos. Hayden, in Newark, N. J., was a greedy reader of pernicious dime novels, his mother testifying in court that he had a trunkful of them—a blood-thirsty list. He fed long through on murder rap and his terrible crime was but the logical consequence.

The State Senate Tuesday declined to accept a suggestion of the Revisionary Commission separating the Insurance Department from the Auditor's Department and giving the Governor the appointment of the Commissioner. The salary of the Commissioner, paid by the insurance companies, was reduced from $4,000 to $2,500, and that of his chief deputy from $2,000 to $1,500.

The expedition in relief of Lieutenant Peary sailed from New York a few days ago in charge of Prof. H. H. H. of Philadelphia. The expedition goes first to St. Johns, Newfoundland, whence it sails for Greenland about the middle of July. In addition to the year's provisions to be left for Lieutenant Peary and his party in case they are not to be found, or if found they determine not to return, there will be a considerable amount of special articles of food taken by each member and many months' stores by the expedition itself.

Some of the best of us who never could take kindly to the cold tub in the morning owe Dr. Robert Walter our gratitude for his rules in Laws on Health. The cold morning bath he denounces as a narcotic and a too great demand upon the nervous system. But he says: "Whoever would enjoy health should take his warm bath two, three or four times a week and retire to bed, thereby allowing nature to secure the best equilibrium of her forces and promote the best conditions of health." It is pleasant to have science thus step in to sanction comfort and common sense.

The Court of Appeals decided in the case of Wm. Harper, sentenced by Madison Circuit Court to one year's imprisonment in the penitentiary and to pay a $500 fine that the sentence was not excessive as argued on appeal. The Court says: "There is no doubt that gambling is a great social and moral evil that leads to crime and dissipation and wrecks fortunes and brings poverty and misery upon the helpless and innocent, and it is certainly not only the duty of the Commonwealth to enact such penalties against the gamblers themselves as will deter them, but also to enact such penalties against such persons as hire themselves out to set up and carry on the gambling halls. And if it requires confinement in the penitentiary and disfranchisement to prevent or check this practice, the Legislature has the Constitutional right, and it is its duty, to enact such law."

In June.

We're all in Vainimbrosia.
There are no barren places.
Hay-makers rob the fields of clover.
If days were short how could the berries ripen?
If nights were long, how could we see the roses?
There are no flowers half so sweet as those grown by our friends.
Do you hear the meadow prophet? He says there's "no more wet!"
Bob o' Linkum keeps his nest "an' robs," he knows his sorer mate is there.
Birds, ferns and velvety moss have their homes in the heart of the woods.
Open doors and windows wide, draw curtains quite a-side, and let the sweets come in—Good House-keeping.

Quality Increasing Demand.

There is an increasing demand for choice hog products all over the country. What is the reason for it? It is found in the improved quality since intelligent feeders and breeders began sending to market the sweet, tender juicy nine or ten months' pig instead of the tough, strong hog that had withstood the storms of two or three winters and the heat of as many summers; wallowed in the mud in summer, sweat in the straw pile in winter, learning to climb a fence, unlatch a gate, crowd through a picket fence and outrun all the neighbors' dogs. Verily the quiet, orderly, contented, well-behaved pig of to-day is a pleasing contrast to his unruly ancestor. The devils have gone out of him, and he is no more evil.—Ex.

Premature Old Age.

Hostess (fat, fair —?)—Ah, Sir Edwin, well do I remember, when a little child, seated on my dear mother's knee, listening as she read the "Light of Asia." Its wondrous beauty made its impress on my childish mind and has never been effaced.
Sir Edwin (visibly astonished)—Madam, you surprise me. I had no idea women matured so rapidly in the west.—Life.

MT. STERLING, TUESDAY, JUNE 22, 1892

FOR CONGRESS.

We are authorized to announce Hon. C. R. Brooks, of Mt. Sterling, Montgomery county, as a candidate for the 53d Congress from the Tenth District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

It looks like Cleveland.

It is thought in Washington that Congress will adjourn about the middle of next month.

It is said that Hon. W. C. Owens, of the Kentucky delegation, will be honored with the Temporary Chairmanship of the Convention at Chicago to-day. The honor was tendered Hon. Henry Watterson, but he declined it, preferring to serve on the Platform Committee.

For the Democratic National Convention, the Watterson Club have secured quarters at the Hotel Richmond for 300 members. The club will take its own band and will march under a banner ornamented with a life-size portrait of the great Kentucky editor whose name it bears.

There are hogs in the streets of Middlesborough now, but they are not as harmful as the hogs which over ran the real estate market there two years ago. To the latter kind is due the falling off in population from 20,000 to 2,500, which that once promising town has witnessed.—Louisville Post

President Harrison received the news of his nomination at the White House over a special wire. The mansion was filled with Cabinet officers, friends of the President and newspaper men. After the congratulations of those present, the President made a graceful little speech, and then informed his sick wife of his success. Mr. Reid learned of his nomination at his summer residence by telephone.

The printers of New York have invented a name for the Republican ticket which will probably stick by it during the entire campaign. They have had circulars printed and distributed throughout the newspaper offices of New York in which Messrs. Harrison and Reid are referred to as "Hat and Rat." Mr. Reid's arrangement of his difference with the union printers may prove, like Mr. Blaine's resignation from the cabinet, to have been thought of too late.

Austin Corbin has signed a contract with the Pennsylvania Railroad for a tunnel under the North River, to cost away up in the millions. It is expected there will be two openings in New York, one near the Battery for the accommodation of those doing business in that part of the city and the other somewhat near Chambers street for the convenience of people who come to that part of the city. From the last opening a tunnel will cross under the city and under the East River to some convenient place near the City Hall.

The Democratic hosts have gathered at Chicago and to-day in convention assembled, will begin the work of selecting the man to fill the Presidential chair, for four years beginning March 4th. next. To an observer at this distance, it seems to be Cleveland against the field, with the chances in the ex-president's favor. No one can as yet make anything more than a guess as to what the result will be; but if prudence and conservatism prevail the convention will nominate a ticket which will sweep the country in November.

Why Blaine Quit.

There are circumstances in prominent events which are misleading and often it is that they force wrong conclusions. It is almost the universal belief that Mr. Blaine sent in his resignation for the sole purpose of becoming a candidate for the Republican nomination, for the Presidency. Mr. Blaine's letter declining to be a candidate, was doubtless in good faith, but the continual snubbing which he received on the part of the administration was beyond endurance and Mr. Blaine quit without a moments warning, just as all proud and great men should do, and now Mr. Blaine reasons for his action is becoming known and are justifiable. His friends used his name before the Minneapolis convention hoping the Republicans would approve it.

THE CHICAGO CONVENTION.

As Viewed From Washington.

All eyes political are now turned toward Chicago. The result at Minneapolis has been received with varying comment and feelings here, but outside of those whose places and political fortunes are dependent upon the administration there is a pretty general notion that the Republican party enters the campaign with a hard row to hoe. Much depends upon the action at Chicago. Had Mr. Blaine been nominated at Minneapolis Cleveland's nomination at Chicago would have been a foregone conclusion, but as Harrison has once beaten Cleveland the question arises whether the advantage of that fact would not be fatal to the latter in the coming struggle. Among over twenty prominent Democrats with whom your correspondent talked yesterday, including four or five delegates to the convention, fully one-half, while expecting Cleveland's nomination, questioned deep down in their gizzards whether a new man like Flower or Whitney would not make more certain of carrying New York, or whether Boies or Palmer, Campbell or Gorman, would not on the whole be more likely to win. These questions are raised by many who are really Cleveland men at heart but who care more for success than for any mere sentiment.

The real trouble and anxiety of the President is just beginning. After bending all his energies and every resource of his office to securing a renomination, he now begins to realize that a still harder fight must be made in the canvass, and that even then he may lose. He already finds that he has his hands full. As he proposes to take general direction of his own campaign, of course the public business must suffer. To keep track of the legislation of Congress and pass bills sent to the White House for his signature, and at the same time give proper consideration to all the matters brought before him by his cabinet officers, while his days and nights are given up to consultations with politicians from everywhere, is an utter impossibility. Another perplexing feature of the situation is the filling of the large number of offices now vacant, and taking care of the promises made before the ballot at Minneapolis. It is no secret now that every office in the gift of the President has been promised two or three times over, not only for the present but for the second term, should there be one. John C. New had carte blanche at Minneapolis, and he used it unostentatiously. Should Harrison pull through in the election there will be lots of fun over this situation. All this emphasizes the necessity of making the President ineligible for a second term.

It is the idea of Mr. Harrison to have a money campaign. He knows that Quay and Dudley bought New York and Indiana for him four years ago, and while he went back on them after he got possession of the office, he thinks somebody else will be found to carry out the same programme this year. It is proposed to raise a corruption fund even larger than that secured by Quay and Wannamaker in 1888. That is why Whitelaw Reid was put on the ticket. Mr. Reid has himself come to be a very rich man by the questionable methods employed by the money-getters of Wall street, and his paper, the New York Tribune, has been the organ of this element ever since Reid obtained control of it. This thrifty young man claims in public that the nomination was unexpected to him, yet he was sending electropics of his portrait around to the newspaper offices in New York two days before it occurred. It is also said that he furnished the cash to solidify the southern delegates for Harrison, and state pledged to secure the largest campaign fund ever raised. That is Mr. Reid's sole strength. His weakness will be fully explained before the campaign is far advanced. One illustration of his character is furnished in his treatment of poor old Horace Greeley. In 1872 Mr. Greeley made Reid what he was. He gave him an opportunity on the Tribune, and favored him in every way. Yet when Greeley was nominated for President and temporarily left the editorship in charge of his protégé the latter proceeded through rich friends to get permanent control of the paper, and supplanted his patron. After the campaign was over Mr. Greeley learned the truth. And it was that which broke the poor old man's heart. An editorial which he wrote and sent up a few days after the election was even suppressed by Reid. From that time to the present the great Tribune "founded by Horace Greeley" has been the organ of monopoly and Wall street—"confounded by Whitelaw Reid."

They Must Like Conventions.

The citizens of Minneapolis, when they heard the storm of the past week had blown off the covering of the wigwam, intended for holding the Democratic Convention, at Chicago, sent the following telegram:

The Citizens' Committee of the Democratic National Convention, Chicago—Gentlemen: We have heard with regret of the great disaster that has befallen your convention hall. Fully sympathizing with the public spirited citizens of Chicago, we tender you free of charge, our great convention hall and accommodations for 100,000 people.

CITIZENS' EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Hon. Calvin S. Brice, Chairman Democratic National Committee, New York—Sir: Understanding the wigwam prepared for the convention at Chicago has been completely demolished, we tender you our great convention hall in Minneapolis, and the usual courtesies so the National Committee on such occasions, free of charge.

Our citizens, regardless of party, will take pride in entertaining your committee and the delegates and visitors to the convention to the best of their ability. We can locate at once the delegates of each State the same as the Republican delegates occupied and advise each State of its location.

This was signed by P. B. Winston, Mayor; Thomas Lowrey; George A. Brackett, Chairman, and William McCreary, Secretary.

Frankfort Correspondence.

FRANKFORT, KY., JUNE 19, '92.

EDITORS ADVOCATE:

While it is to be hoped crime is not on the increase in Kentucky, convicts continue to accumulate in the prison walls, and the Eddyville prison, at a cost of half a million dollars to the State, seems ill-adapted to the purposes of its construction, and a bill has been introduced in the house by Mr. Quigley this week looking to the building of several hundred cells in the penitentiary here to relieve the present overcrowded condition, two convicts being put in many of the cells now.

A bill has been introduced to abolish the insurance bureau, and another bill reducing the salary of the Commissioner of insurance and the clerks under him. This bureau with its $14,000 of patronage should be separated from the Auditor's office. The Commissioner gets $4,000 a year, and should be elected by the people. There is no reason why the Auditor or any other State officer (as has been done) should be permitted to traffic in these affairs to secure further political advancement.

The Capitol removal question is now in a state of bilateral agitation in the house. Under the new Constitution a two-third vote of each house is required to move it, and heretofore a majority could never agree to move it from Frankfort, and there is not the slightest probability that it will be moved, though the anxiety of some and the hopes of others may have expression in banquets and champagne suppers to the Legislature, in fact some irreverent jesters insinuate that such is the ulterior purpose of the movers in the matter.

The election bill has passed both houses and will go the Governor for his signature as soon as enrolled.

The Superior Court adjourned Wednesday and the Court of Appeals Saturday for the summer vacation.

The Senate has passed a bill abolishing the State Board of Equalization.

The Conference Committee on the Judicial Redistricting bill has not yet reported, and prospective candidates for Judge and Commonwealth Attorney must remain a while longer on the anxious seat before they know just what counties they will have to run in.

The U. S. District Court has been in session here all week, most of the time taken up with petty criminal cases. The civil docket not reached yet.

Quite a number of Democrats in the General Assembly will go to Chicago next week.

Rev. Sam Jones said at Nashville, Tenn., Sunday night: "If old Tammany were to go to hell in a body and knock at the door, the devil would only let them in at a time. If he were to let them in all at once they would knock him in the head, elect their own devil and run things to suit themselves."

Fruit jars, Mason sealers, in glass, also stone jars, all sizes. 45-2t W. W. REED.

The Conference Committee appointed by the Senate and House to agree upon a bill for the Judicial redistricting of the State have about completed their labors, and will in a day or two make a report. Our district is to be composed of Montgomery, Bath, Menefee and Morgan.

Hon. J. L. Kendall's silver speech in the House has won considerable notoriety for him. The principal dailies have given his remarks a more or less favorable comment, whilst the House accorded to him the courtesy of close attention and a very respectful hearing. Mr. Kendall's maiden effort in the House shows him to be an orator of no mean ability, and the congratulations he has received are enough to turn the head of a man less inclined to lend a deaf ear to flattery.

"The best is none too good," says the most wonderfully successful trotting horse man in the world. This rule applies with equal force to tracks that it does to horses. The man who is breeding to scrub horses these days is sowing a harvest from which he will only reap vain regrets. With the many blooded horses that can be found in almost every community there is no excuse for any man raising a horse for which he will find no sale. The sensible breeder always aims to meet the demands of the market.

HORSE AND TRACK.

A red granite shaft has been placed over the grave of Hambletonian.

Hickok considers a kite track four seconds faster than a regulation one. This is something of an item.

The dam of Mambrino Maid, 2:15 1/4, has a foal at foot by Gambetta Wilkes.

Alfonso by Baron Wilkes, 2:18, out of Alma Mater by Mambrino Patchen, been placed in training.

Monroe Salisbury has determined to start Direct at any town that will not put up a purse of $5,000 or more.

Althaddon, holder of the yearling colt record at 2:27, has developed into a sixteen-hand horse, weighing 1,050 pounds.

George Wilkes will have two sons on the turf this year should they not meet with any mishap in their preparation. They are Brignoli Wilkes and Prophet Wilkes.

The first race track in Kentucky was laid out in 1795 at Shallow Ford Station. A man engaged in testing the speed of his horse on this track was shot by an Indian in a cane thicket near by.

In speaking of Rarus a short time ago Splan said: "I can say this much for him—he would do all he could every time you called on him, and that is more than the fancy ones of to-day will do."

The mares Hazel Wilkes and Una Wilkes, by Guy Wilkes, 2:15 1/4, are moving quarters in such fast time at Terre Haute that they are both regarded as up to free-for-all speed by those who have seen them go.

After sixteen years of litigation the sum of $30,825 has been paid A. B. McLeudy and T. J. Russell, of Norris-town, Tenn., by the K. C. G. & L. railroad as damages for the trotting horse, Briston, killed in a wreck in 1876. This is the largest sum ever paid by a railroad company for the killing of a horse.

Mr. Peter Durves, of New York, has sold to Mr. W. H. Cochrane, of Del Norte, Col., his grand team of trotting mares, Badger Girl and Jessie Blake, for $14,000. This team can trot together low down in the twenties, and Jessie Blake was the winner of the two-year-old stakes at Sturgis, Mich., last October. They are a handsome, well matched pair of bays.

Don't be afraid to give your horses that are training grass once or twice a day. It opens the bowels, cools the system, and nourishes the body. It is the most perfect food that can be given to a horse, and although not strong enough diet to supply sufficient strength for hard work, yet it is a very valuable and essential diet for horses in training to keep them healthy, their pores open and their systems in good order. All experienced and successful trainers see that their horses have more or less grass every day, and the man who fails to supply it makes a mistake that his horses will feel and show before the season closes. It is better, where it can be done, to let the horses pick the grass in the natural way. By holding them out every evening they get needed change and exercise, fresh air and good food, and enjoy the change from the stable to the comparative freedom which the grass plot affords.

There is a lot of truth in the following item from the Western Horseman: "The talk now being made that the prices for trotting horses had passed below the point that will assure a reasonable profit, is about as absurd as anything that we have read lately. The fact is, a horse that can 'go some' is in greater demand than ever before, and his earning capacity is also much greater than at any past time. The plug horse has had his day, but the trotter is now on the highest wave of popularity. There is a market for every sound and speedy trotting horse in the country, and a seller don't have to wait long for a customer, either. The fellows who think the bottom has dropped out of the trotting horse business are the ones who have trotting horses for sale that can't trot."

Each year trotting gains an additional foothold in sections and States where there had previously been little or none. A few months we called attention to the fact that an excellent kite-shaped track was being built at Kirkwood, Del. It is now finished, and is pronounced as one of the fastest and best in the whole country. The soil was admirably adapted for the purpose, and a large amount of money has been expended in making it as perfect as possible. The inaugural opening is to be held July 4th, and is certain to be a success. Kirkwood is situated nearly midway between Philadelphia and Baltimore, with excellent railroad facilities, and is likely to prove one of the most prominent trotting centers of the East.—Breeder and Sportsman.

GENERAL NEWS.

Father Mollinger, the far-famed priest-physician, of Mount Troy, Allegheny, died at 1:50 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Death was caused by strangulated hernia. Father Mollinger was born in Holland, of well-to-do parents, who sent him to St. Vincent's College, West Moreland county, Pa., to be educated for the priesthood. He was ordained at St. Vincent's. He also studied medicine at this college. In 1869 he came to Mt. Troy, and has been there ever since, and, becoming widely known for performing many miraculous cures both by medicine and by a relic of St. Anthony. Father Mollinger was 70 years old. He leaves a fortune of about a million dollars.

Eight lives were lost by the Chicago tornado, instead of two, as first reported, and fifteen persons were injured.

The British steamer Petrolia, which left Philadelphia May 26 with a full cargo of crude petroleum, was struck by lightning near the harbor of Bayle, in France Tuesday. The steamer exploded and was completely destroyed by fire with several smaller craft. Eighteen lives were lost.

The Arkansas delegates to the Democratic convention were instructed to vote as a unit. A substitute instructing for Cleveland was defeated by a large majority in the State convention.

The two Democratic conventions in Louisiana agreed upon a plan of reorganization to secure party harmony, and divided the delegation to Chicago, each convention electing half.

The Superior Court adjourned Wednesday for its summer vacation.

The Ohio State Convention elected Senator Brice, ex-Governor Campbell, Lawrence T. Neal and Robert Blee, delegates at large to the Chicago Convention. The delegates are uninterested.

The State Senate passed the Elections Bill Wednesday, as it came back from the House amended. This law while not a perfect one will do much to give us a pure ballot.

Ex-Secretary Whitney is out in a letter positively declining to allow his name to go before the Chicago Convention.

There was a most fearful accident at Covington on Wednesday. The bridge being built over the Licking river to connect Covington and Newport, gave way, precipitating the 45 workmen in the river, along with the immense mass of iron and wood work. It seems the false work for the bridge had been greatly weakened by the late rains, and though the work was considered dangerous, yet no steps had been taken to strengthen it. Messrs. Andrew and David Baird, of Pittsburg, were the contractors, and are among the killed. Only two of the forty-five men who were on the bridge when it fell escaped unhurt. Twenty-two were killed outright, and as many more injured many of them so frightfully that they cannot survive.

Unless the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers and the iron manufacturers of Pittsburgh and the West settle their differences regarding the new scale of wages, a general strike will be declared July 1.

At Ste. Rose, a Canadian village, a cyclone, Wednesday, destroyed a school-house, and three children were killed and four probably injured. Other villages were swept and two children were killed at St. Therese and two at Upton.

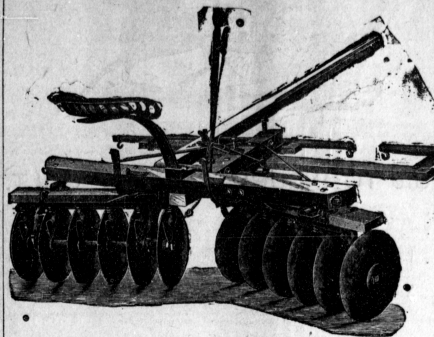

C. W. Carpenter is now ready for business in all departments at his new store on Mayville street. Goods of all sorts are being sold at prices greatly reduced. Wall paper and carpets at less than manufacturer's prices. The splendid horse stock is being knifed without mercy. Go there if you want bargains in all lines.

"Where to Go This Summer."

If you contemplate taking a trip this summer remember that the most delightful place in America is Old Point Comfort, Va.

On Tuesday, July 26th, the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad will run its annual excursion from Lexington and the Bluegrass region. A trip to Old Point will cost you less than to any other place on account of the extremely low rates made by the Hygeia Hotel and the railway company to parties taking advantage of this excursion.

Full particulars will be advertised shortly.

Causes of Bitter Milk.

A Buxton, Mo., reader is in trouble over bitter milk from a cow which is giving several quarts a day, but will be fresh again in August. Her feed is two quarts of cottonseed meal and one quart of bran a day; kind of coarse fodder not stated. With so meager a statement of conditions one could only guess at the cause of the trouble and with small chance of guessing right.

Bitterness is doubtless sometimes due to food, such as bitter weeds, but I think such cases are rare. Green clover has a bitter taste, so have the leaves of many trees and shrubs, but the cow appears to have the ability to eat such without imparting bitterness to her milk unless fed in excessive quantity. I have known green millet, green barley and even green grass to give a rank, disagreeable taste to milk when cows were given large quantities, all they would eat, often after being previously kept on an exclusively dry hay diet. I suppose they consumed more of the green stuff than they could fully and perfectly digest. Cows approaching the period of calving sometimes give abnormal milk that requires special treatment to have it good. Such milk, if scalded at once after milking may remain sweet, when, if left to itself, it would grow bitter in a day or two.

Another cause of bitterness is the presence of bacterial germs falling into the milk in the stable when swamp hay has been shaken up and the air filled with dust. Such hay sometimes contains certain kinds of plants which appear to favor the bitter-producing germs in the mow probably during the curing process, something as bacteria are multiplied in silage. To avoid all danger from such sources care should be taken to milk in a clean, pure atmosphere and to do the shaking up of dusty hay after the milk has been removed from the udder.

Scalding of milk will prevent bitterness, as least kills the germs which otherwise might multiply while cooling in the ordinary way. Quickly cooling milk will also prevent or retard the multiplication of troublesome germs, as most of the species require a warm or moderate temperature for their growth. Some bitter germs however, grow in milk at a low temperature which partly explains why milk is more often bitter in winter than in summer.—N. E. Farmer.

A Story With a Moral.

Last week great excitement was created in San Francisco by the sending of several threatening letters in Chinese to persons connected with the Chinese Mission. One of these received by the matron of the Presbyterian mission, threatened her with death unless she discontinued her efforts to rescue Chinese girls from corrupt associations.

Just before this, says the Chronicle, "to make a Californian less his temper be told by a man who never saw Chinese in his life, until his arrival here a week ago, or maybe a month, that we do not know anything about them, that we misjudge them, and that they are in reality amenable to all and good and refining influences. The Chronicle is a Republican paper. No doubt it printed the above remarks without any consciousness that it was condemning just what its party friends do with reference to the South. They assume to know more about the way in which the delicate race problem ought to be managed in the States where the colored population is large than the people who inhabit those States. The fewer negroes they have ever seen the firmer are they in their convictions that they know precisely what ought to be done with reference to them. They do not even try the effect of a week or a month residence, but desire to take from the Southern people the control of their own affairs, in order to govern them according to their own ideas.—Courier Journal.

Representative Eli T. Stackhouse, of the 1st Congressional District, and President of the State Farmer's Alliance, died suddenly in Washington on Tuesday morning of heart disease.

THE ADVOCATE.

LAND, STOCK AND CROP.

Prewitt & Wood bought 200 returned lambs from Elijah Pence at 51c, to go 1st to 10th of July, and 35 returned lambs from Logan Murphy at $3.70 per head. They also bought a load of hogs, 1st to 10th of July delivery, from Charles and John Spoonamore, at 4c; 15 from D. G. Spoonamore, to go in July, at 4c; 25 from Wm. Snow, to go the last fifteen days in August, at 4c.—Danville Advocate.

Buyers are offering 65 cents for wheat and $4.25 for hemp. No wheat is being sold at the price.

Wheat harvesting will be in full blast here by the middle of next week, though we know of several farmers who will begin Saturday. Complaints of smut are still heard. S. H. Yeager, however, has one field of wheat which was sown early and grazed until April which contains no smut. Bladder twine is being sold here at 10 and 11 cents.—Danville Advocate.

One of the best things in the world to give a horse after he has been driven is a quart of oatmeal stirred in a pail of water. It is a refresher, and strengthens him, relieves his immediate thirst and prepares his stomach for more solid food.

Small farms make near neighbors. They make good roads; they make plenty of good schools and churches; there is more money made in proportion to the labor; less labor is wanted; more is raised to the acre, besides it is tilled better; there is no watching of hired help; the mind is not kept in a worry, stew and fret all the time.—Ex.

There was not more than half the usual Court day crowd in town Monday, and business was very dull.—Owingsville Outlook.

Reports from the several portions of the county tell of a magnificent grass crop; cattle doing finely; about 93 per cent. of the tobacco crop is out and looking well; corn in splendid growing condition; a fine prospect for wheat; the oat crop rather short. The farmers all at work taking advantage of the opportunities offered for aiding nature to give them the bounteous harvest now seemingly ahead of them. The outlook makes the heart of the "hayseed" and the song of rejoicing of the horny handed son of toil is heard in the land.

Farrier L. Christy sold for Mr. John Morris at the Farmers' House, Louisville, the past week $8 hds. of tobacco at from $22.50 to $9.60 an average of $15 per cwt. at home.

Caswell Prewitt sold at the Farmers' House Louisville the past week 8 hds. of common tobacco at $6.50.

The grass seed crop is one of the best that has been gathered in years. The seed is said to be in splendid condition.

McCann, Stockell & Co., importers of china, glass and housekeeping wares, corner Mill and Main streets, Lexington, Ky., headquarters for fine wares at low prices. They are now receiving the largest, nicest and cheapest stock of wares we ever had. A decorated breakfast, dinner and tea set, 112 pieces, for $20.00. A nice chamber set $8.25. A tin set $1.50. Five tin tumblers per dozen $1.25. A nice parlor lamp, Duplex burner, ten inch shade, and bowl to match, all set in brass for $1.50. Our lines of cheap wares and fine wares are very complete, and any one visiting Lexington should step in, look and learn, if you care not to buy. No newspaper can describe our stock. Come and see, corner Mill and Main streets, Lexington, Ky. 34-3m

Cheap Waterworks.

Superintendent S. A. Charles of the waterworks received a letter the other day from President Hibbetts in which he stated that he had noticed in some paper that there was a proposition to purchase the waterworks and asked what about it?

Mr. Charles replied that "he did not think enough of the report to report personally to his quarters, but he would state by the way of explanation that if waterworks were worth twenty-five cents a down, Lexington would not buy a mud-puddle." No comments necessary.—Lexington Transcript.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Grassy Lick.

The past week was favorable for all farm work and growing crops. Meadows and grasses were never better and farmers were never so busy.

The rain on last Sunday evening was too tempting for those who had not finished setting tobacco, and some violated the Sabbath by pulling and setting plants.

Owen Morris sold his crop of tobacco, containing 7,000 lbs. to Wm. Styles for 4 and 9 cts.

The June delivery of lambs is now going off and they are weighing out well. All sold in this neighborhood at 5 and 5 1/2 per hundred.

A. W. Stofor has gathered about 2,000 bushels of blue grass seed.

J. Fester had a valuable horse to get his foot badly cut on barbed wire last week.

Miss Lucy Bryant, of Sideview, died at her home on last Saturday, June 18th, aged 63 years. She had been in feeble health for some time, and was highly respected by all her neighbors.

The Sideview bridal parties have returned home.

Next Saturday and Sunday will be quarterly meeting at Grassy Lick. Dr. H. P. Walker will be present.

Mrs. Henry Judy, of Clark county, visited her daughter, Mrs. A. W. Stofor, last week.

Wm. Ramsey and Geo. Roberts returned from Louisville last Friday. Mr. Roberts did not bring his housekeeper. Says it was not his fault, and wants the ladies to know that he is still on the market.

Within the last ten days smut has made its appearance in the wheat and in some fields fully one-third will be smut. Too much rain the cause.

Wade's Mill.

Sam Olston is out after a recent illness.

Lee White is quite sick at this writing.

Charlie Swift, Jr., is suffering from fever.

Morgan McKinney's little daughter, Maude, is recovering from bronchial trouble.

Mrs. J. N. Stewart, of Mt. Sterling, is visiting her father, W. S. Perkins.

Elder Wm. Smoot, of Virginia, is expected to preach at Mt. Carmel next Saturday and Sunday.

Eld. Jas. E. Terry preached at Brookstown, in Madison county, last Saturday and Sunday, and will preach at Salem next Saturday and Sunday.

A good many of our people will attend quarterly meeting at Grassy Lick next Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. H. A. Rogers visited her mother last week, who is very sick at her son-in-law's, Dr. Bob. Willis, of Lexington.

Howard's Mill.

The most of the tobacco is set out; corn is very weedy; wheat and oats are looking well.

The health of this portion of the county is not good. A considerable amount of fever of a typhoid type is prevailing.

Miss Annie Wells has returned from a visit to Powell county.

Dr. Clark and W. J. George made a flying visit to Olympian Springs.

E. C. Owings is visiting in Bath.

Misses Jennie and Allie Groves have returned home from their school at Millersburg.

We have the best Sunday School in the county. Everybody is interested in it. Let the good work go on.

Mrs. Mitchell, aged 70 years, died at the residence of her son-in-law, Ed. Adams, Friday evening, and was buried at Thompson grave yard at Steptoe, Saturday.

Little Johnnie, eleven-year-old son of J. M. Patton, of Howards Mill neighborhood, is quite sick with fever.

Executor's Notice.

All persons having claims against the estate of Miss Lucy Ann Bryant will present the same to me on or before August 1st, 1892. Persons knowing themselves indebted to the estate will come forward and settle at once.

S. S. PIERCE, Ex'r. of Miss Lucy Ann Bryant. 46-3t

Mt. Sterling Marble & Granite Co.

Cook's Cotton Root COMPOUND.

A recent discovery by an old physician, successfully used monthly by thousands of ladies, is the only perfectly safe and reliable medicine discovered, before of unprincipled druggists who offer inferior medicines in place of this. Ask for COOK'S COTTON ROOT COMPOUND; take no substitutes, or imitations and 6 cents in postage in letter, and we will send, sealed, by return mail, full colored particulars in plain envelope, to ladies only, two stamps. Address: Pond Lily Co., No. 5 Fisher Block, Detroit, Mich. Sold in Mt. Sterling by Kennedy Bros. W. S. Louisville, C. Lloyd, F. J. Julian, and druggists everywhere.

Fire and Life Assurance,

BUILDING & LOAN ASSOCIATION

—AND—

REAL ESTATE AGENCY

—OF—

T. F. ROGERS & CO.

Represent the 'old time-tried "Orient" Fire Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn., with a capital of $2,000,000.

The reliable "Merchants" Fire Insurance Co., of Newark, N. J., and the well-known "Traders" Insurance Co., of Chicago, Ill., with near same capital.

All endorsed by the Insurance Commissioner of Kentucky. Risks written in either at popular rates. Building & Loan Associations that I represent sell $100 shares payable in monthly installments at 60c. a share.

$100 shares of paid-up stock for $50, with a dividend of 6 per cent. payable semi-annually until maturity.

Those interested in purchase or sale of real estate should interview me, as my companies loan money to right parties. I also represent the Covenant Mutual Benefit Association that furnishes Life Insurance at half the usual cost. Over 34,000 members. Insurance in force $90,000,000, Cash Assets, $650,000. Death claims paid, $5,500,000. Note comparison in rates with Old Line companies:

OLD LINE CO. C. M. B. A.
Age 25 per 1,000, $19.89. . . . . $11.26
" 35 " 26.38. . . . . 11.06
" 40 " 31.30. . . . . 14.61
N. B.—A first-class agent wanted in this county for this company.

Yours truly,
